TRAINING GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

The Forum Ohio, LLC, Postdoctoral Fellowship in Forensic Psychology is a one-year, full-time (2,000 hour) training program intended to prepare Psychology Postdoctoral Fellows for careers in the public and private sectors of forensic psychology. Our aim is to provide training consistent with a standard of excellence--beyond competence and specialty-level practice. The Fellowship is designed to prepare Fellows to become board certified in Forensic Psychology through the American Board of Professional Psychology (ABPP). Our training goals and objectives adhere to the guidelines identified for postdoctoral fellowships provided by the American Board of Forensic Psychology (ABFP). Forum Ohio's Postdoctoral Fellowship in Forensic Psychology has been granted the 5-year forensic psychology waiver by ABFP, meaning Fellows are immediately eligible to apply for board certification in forensic psychology upon completion of the fellowship and need not complete the 5-year experience requirement.

Our aim is to produce top-quality forensic psychologists who can perform a variety of forensic mental health assessments in numerous settings. We emphasize breadth and depth of training by fostering expertise in those types of evaluations most common in the field (e.g., competence to stand trial, criminal responsibility, risk assessments, juvenile forensic evaluations) while providing assessment experience in a variety of settings and numerous subspecialties within forensic psychology. Forum Ohio, LLC, receives private, contract, and court-ordered referrals through multiple facilities and court systems, including psychiatric hospitals, probate court, juvenile court, municipal court, state-wide common pleas court systems, the Ohio Supreme Court, federal courts, the Ohio Department of Mental Health and Addiction Services, and the Ohio Department of Developmental Disabilities. We conduct evaluations for civil and criminal legal questions. Evaluations are conducted for juveniles and adults in inpatient and outpatient settings. The diversity of our practice is reflected in the numerous forensic psychologists we have on staff, all of whom have various specialties and perform many types of evaluations in multiple settings. All of these various experiences are options in the Fellowship and training is individualized to the unique interests and career goals of the Fellow.

Core Competencies

The Fellowship emphasizes several training objectives, many of which are inspired by the Core Competencies of Forensic Psychology identified by ABFP. Forum Ohio's fellowship especially emphasizes the following core competencies:

1. Forensic Ethical Principles and Legal Standards

3. Applied Clinical Forensic Skills
4. Specialty Areas of Forensic Mental Health Assessment

In the past 8 years, Forum Ohio (in conjunction with its subsidiaries) has completed about 2,000 evaluations per year. Those evaluations have been comprehensive and forensic in nature, requiring multiple evaluative methods, such as extensive records review, interviewing collateral contacts, clinical observations, and psychological testing.

Fellows will spend at least 50% of their time (i.e., a minimum of 1,000 hours) providing direct professional forensic psychological services, including forensic mental health assessments and consultation. Forensic Psychology and Landmark Case Seminar

In addition to practical training in forensic mental health assessment, the Fellowship offers weekly seminars. These are dedicated to a critical review of foundational theoretical readings, empirical studies in the field of forensic psychology, and a review and critical discussion of landmark mental health law cases. Fellows will be assigned readings and will be responsible for preparing case law briefs each week. It is our hope that these case briefs will be the basis of a study guide for the Fellows in preparation for the ABFP Written Examination. Topics cover the 23 content areas in forensic psychology identified in the ABFP Suggested Reading List for Written and Oral Examinations. These seminars will be facilitated by psychologists in the practice (who occasionally may be accompanied by guest speakers) with expertise in the subject area.

All reading materials and cases will be available to Fellows at no cost for educational purposes. Additionally, Fellows will have access to an extensive library of seminal forensic psychology texts. Please see the Appendix at the end of this Handbook for the tentative seminar schedule for the upcoming fellowship year.

Trainings and Workshops

In addition to the weekly seminars, Fellows will have access to free Continuing Education forensic trainings (e.g., Grand Rounds at The Ohio State University and Ohio Department of Mental Health and Addiction Services regional psychiatric hospitals), as well as paid trainings (e.g., Annual Forensic Conference) in the state of Ohio. If desired, Fellows may attend national trainings and workshops, such as those offered by the American Academy of Forensic Psychology (AAFP), the American Psychology-Law Society (AP-LS), and the Ohio Psychological Association (OPA). Fellows are offered an education stipend and administrative leave days to assist with the time and cost of these opportunities (see “Stipend and Benefits” below).

Expert Testimony

Fellows will have the opportunity to observe and participate in expert testimony for various types of evaluations in many types of courts, potentially including juvenile court, probate court, municipal court, and common pleas court. Additionally, the Fellowship will host two Mock Trial Workshops - one at the mid-point of the training year and another at the end of the training year. In each, Fellows will be required to testify on an evaluation they conducted during the Fellowship year. Both mock trials will take place in a courtroom. The mid-year mock trial will be led by the Fellowship Directors. The end of the year mock trial will be led by a practicing criminal law judge, and direct and cross examinations will be conducted by practicing criminal law attorneys. Following the exercise, the Fellow will receive feedback on multiple criteria, including: adequate preparation and knowledge of the case, professional demeanor, quality of testimony (e.g., clarity and accuracy), non-verbal mannerisms, and personal reactions to stress. These domains will also be addressed in actual expert testimony performed by Fellows, which will always be observed by the case supervisor. In all circumstances, mock and real testimony, an emphasis will be placed on the Fellow’s presentation style as much as their familiarity with the case.

Teaching and Supervision

The Fellowship recognizes the importance of disseminating information and providing high-quality supervision in the area of forensic psychology. As such, various teaching opportunities will be made available to Fellows who desire this experience. This could include giving a case presentation or research talk to the practice, presenting for a professional psychology or lawyer association, or being a guest lecturer for a university class. In addition to the Fellowship, the practice provides training and supervision to undergraduate volunteers, graduate-level externs, and predoctoral interns. Fellows are encouraged to pursue experience in the provision of supervision with trainees in various stages of their forensic training.

SUPERVISION AND EVALUATION

The Fellowship is dedicated to preparing Fellows for the realities and expectations of independent forensic practice. Training emphasizes increased autonomy over the fellowship year. Supervision will initially focus on developing the Fellow's ability to write high-quality reports and gradually transition to an emphasis on enhancing writing efficiency. By the end of the fellowship year, Fellows will feel prepared to produce excellent reports at a rate that is expected for full-time evaluators in the public or private sector.

A minimum of two hours of face-to-face supervision is provided to Fellows per week. Additionally, on-site supervision is provided in a manner consistent with the comfort, experience, and training needs of each Fellow. All supervision is provided by a licensed psychologist affiliated with Forum Ohio, LLC, who has extensive expertise in the type of evaluation being conducted. Group supervision may be provided as well, though that will be in addition to and not in lieu of individual supervision.

Each Fellow will undergo a formal written evaluation every quarter in order to ensure the Fellow is maximizing their unique training, meeting their professional goals, and receiving feedback regarding the satisfactory completion of the requirements for passing the Fellowship. Quarterly Reviews are conducted by the Fellow's immediate supervisor and reviewed by the fellowship director(s). Our review process is empirically informed by recent research on forensic assessment supervision practices in the field. Evaluations identify the strengths and limitations of the Fellow's progress across several domains (e.g., applied clinical forensic skills, forensic conceptualization, professional development).
